

The Growing Team at SRDD Law is Focused on Finding Solutions

By Jeanne Cotroneo Darrow

At some point, each of us will need a lawyer. The right counsel is your access to the best solutions, no matter your situation or need. Stenger, Roberts, Davis & Diamond, LLP (SRDD Law), one of the largest and most experienced firms in the Hudson Valley, has 15 attorneys, all active in the community and vested in making it thrive. A general practice firm, SRDD Law can provide comprehensive advice on a wide array of issues in these practice areas:

- Criminal Law
- Personal Injury Law
- Litigation
- Family Law
- Special Needs Planning
- Wills, Trusts and Estates
- Property Tax Assessments
- Business Law
- Residential and Commercial Real Estate
- Education Law

Their attorneys take time to listen, fully research your case and develop creative legal strategies to protect your interests and attain your goals. Given its size, SRDD Law has the resources and depth of experience to handle any legal dispute but is small enough to provide individualized service. In fact, their attorneys meet regularly to collaborate and obtain each other's input.

“Our knowledgeable and experienced attorneys, along with our dedicated support staff, draw their strength from working together to support each individual case. We tailor our strategies to our clients' needs, and our diverse practice opens doors to new and interesting solutions,” says partner Kenneth Stenger.

Ken, who grew up in East Fishkill, has practiced law in Dutchess County for nearly 35 years. His partners include Al Roberts, who has practiced for nearly 50 years; Tom Davis, who heads the firm's personal injury, matrimonial litigation and criminal defense departments; and Steve Diamond, who handles wills and estates, business formation and transactions, real estate, lending and secured transactions. But the partners are supporting and developing the skills of a new generation of lawyers with whom they share their knowledge every day. Their goal was to create a different kind of firm, one dedicated to a superior level of excellence that also encourages young associates to feel and act as owners, with confidence to make decisions and have a real impact. “The younger generation understands that there's a solution for every problem, and they won't quit until they find it,” says Ken.

That's why SRDD Law continues to hire and grow. Most recently, the firm welcomed Andrea Gellen, who will expand the firm's educational law practice, and Karen Hagstrom, a former prosecutor in the Dutchess County District Attorney's office, who will expand its tax certiorari practice. Joining last year were Meghan Mossey, who practices family law, real estate and litigation; and Alex Weininger, an associate on the personal injury team. SRDD Law also recently deepened a bench of young practitioners that includes Darren Fairlie, who handles civil and commercial matters; Jessica Glass, who practices business law, business and secured lending, real estate and liquor licensing; and Ian Lindars, an associate in the litigation, municipal and real estate departments. Among other commendations, Ian, who grew up in Hopewell Junction, has received the 40 Under 40 Shaker Award from the Dutchess County Regional Chamber of Commerce.
